STITCH UNTITLED

Taryne founded and established Stitch Untitled, a local Melbourne Unisex Streetwear brand in 2019, with a vision to inspire through fashion and storytelling.

Taryne's story:

Stitch Untitled means 'undefined creation' and resonates with those who live by the values of fearlessness, resilience, and determination which underpin the brand. "I always felt like I was here for a greater purpose both personally & professionally," Taryne states. "I have found navigating my way to personal & professional success can be very isolating and confronting at times. Stitch Untitled represents my want to strive for growth but also for individuals to connect with a brand that is motivating them, like me, to be the best version of themselves, despite the challenges they may face." Alas, the slogan "not for the faint-hearted" was born.

On multiple social platforms, Taryne shares the stories of influential public figures who discuss their own journey to success, their challenges and highlights.

With the scaling online & wholesale presence, the future of Stitch Untitled is a promising one.
